Which marketing trends will impact business in 2020?

Business leaders also need to think about building trust with their target audience by educating and sharing information. Claire Gamble, managing director of Unhooked Communications, says: "You can invest in creating your own content on your own channels - for example, downloadable guides, YouTube tutorials, and 'how to' blogs - that you can send out to your target audience and engage with them in a way that avoids the hard sell but starts the selling journey."
